EXTENDED WARRANTY

High investment protection with regard to minimal operating costs

Rohde&Schwarz extended warranties are included in the service contracts offered when you purchase a new product. An extended warranty ensures optimum performance and availability of your Rohde&Schwarz system at low, calculable operating costs. Investing in an extended warranty pays off over a product life cycle. Ask your Rohde&Schwarz sales partner for more information.

Extended warranty for one to four years

Repairs made during the contract term are free of charge<sup>1)</sup>. Simply contact our forwarding agent and your product will be picked up free of charge and returned in top condition a few days later.

Reasons for an extended warranty

A four-year extended warranty (WE4) usually costs less than a single repair.

You can reliably plan and calculate service costs for the term of the extended warranty.

Useful modifications, such as hardware updates, are provided which only the manufacturer can offer.

You have no transport costs if the product is shipped by the Rohde&Schwarz forwarding agent<sup>2)</sup>.

Transparent, calculable operating costs and no "service surprises"

Unexpected downtimes can disrupt operations and tie up valuable resources with administrative and order approval procedures. Unfortunately, failures in highly complex systems and equipment can never be entirely avoided – but their associated time and expenses can be. When you purchase a Rohde&Schwarz extended warranty, operating costs are calculable and you can focus on your core tasks.

Maximum protection at a low price

Everything is getting more expensive – but not the services that come with the purchase of a Rohde&Schwarz extended warranty. The warranty freezes current service prices and safeguards against inflation and price increases. Rohde&Schwarz extended warranties are available for one to four years.

With a Rohde&Schwarz extended warranty, you benefit from long-term direct manufacturer support at a fraction of the purchase price.
